

Using Read&Write For Windows With Google Chrome

Last Modified on Thursday, 19-Sep-2024 11:24:39 BST

In order to use Read&Write for Windows in the Chrome browser, you'll need to install the Support for Read&Write Desktop extension. This Chrome extension lets you use your Read&Write for Windows toolbar to read text, look up words, collect highlights to Word, and more.

To install, just open Read&Write for Windows and then open the Chrome browser. A new tab will open prompting you to install the extension:-

Click the blue Add to Chrome button.

Once the extension has been installed, just refresh your tabs and you'll be able to use Read&Write in Google Chrome.

If you are not automatically prompted to install the Support for Read&Write Desktop extension, you can also install it from this link.