

Microsoft Two Factor Authentication

Last Modified on Monday, 23-Mar-2026 14:28:50 GMT

Here is an important update about signing in with your Microsoft account:

Microsoft is adding new security steps for your account. This change helps keep your information safer.

You might see an extra screen when you sign in to our products. This happens if you use the "Sign in with Microsoft" option. This screen will ask you to complete an extra step to verify it is you. This is sometimes called "two-factor authentication."

To continue signing in:

1. If you see this extra screen, please follow the instructions.
  2. Complete the setup steps on your Microsoft account.
  3. After you finish, you can sign in to Read&Write successfully.
