The default Azure AD configuration allows user consent out-of-the-box, but this can be restricted from Azure Active Directory -> User Settings in the Azure Administration portal.

1 (Optional) Users or groups may be assigned access to the Read&Write application

- This article from Microsoft also details the process.

- Using an administrator account to sign-in to Office 365, the Administrator will need to copy the link below, replacing {tenant} with either the Primary domain or Tenant ID of their Azure Active Directory.

If you also have Read&Write for Windows, please see our Windows support article here for the Windows link to use.

- After completing these steps, non-admin users should be able to access!
